APPENDIX 2: ELUCIDATION TO PERSONAL CONTACT

Many decisions concerning Personal Contact will have to be based on the following basic principles:

- a) It is the duty of each player to avoid Personal Contact in all possible ways.
- b) Each player may take up a position in the field, which is not already occupied by an opponent, provided the player makes no contact in doing so and takes the factors of time and place into account.
- c) If contact causes an offence to be made, the player responsible for that Personal Contact is deemed to have committed the offence.

PERSONAL CONTACT IS NOT PERMITTED!

Although, theoretically, powerchair hockey is a 'game without Personal Contact', it is almost impossible to avoid it when several players with powerchairs are moving across the available playing field at some speed.

When light Personal Contact occurs as a result of a legitimate attempt to play the ball, it shall be regarded as accidental and need not be penalized, unless the player, against whom contact is affected, is impeded in some way.

A player who is standing still, is never responsible for Personal Contact.

PERSONAL CONTACT

The elements of 'time' and 'place' play an important part when judging the Personal Contacts of players.

'Time' depends on the speed of the powerchairs.

'Place' concerns the position of the player's own powerchair as well as the position of the other teammates and opponents and the places of the goals, the boundaries and the referees. Joining the elements of place and time results in the 'moving-lines' of players.

In case of crossing moving-lines a player must give the opponent the opportunity either to stop or change the moving-line.

In the case of parallel moving-lines a player must give the opponent the opportunity to continue the own moving-line.

A player may have the moving-line either forwards or backwards and is allowed without making Personal Contact.

COLLIDING

When moving-lines cross, there is the danger of colliding at the crossing-point.

A means of deciding who bumps into who is, to look who took the initiative for the action and to look where the collision took place. The player whose powerchair is hit on the side, is considered to be the first on the crossing-point. The player who hits the side of the powerchair makes the offence.

Colliding also includes the sudden turn of a player, for example to play the ball away, and doing so, makes contact with another player.

SHIELDING / INTERFERENCE

Shielding is an attempt to prevent an opponent who is not in possession of the ball from reaching the position the opponent is heading for.

Shielding can be allowed or not allowed:

- Allowed Shielding

A player who is shielding an opponent, but stands still or moves without making Personal Contact, whereas the shielding opponent is able to continue the own moving-line or to change the own direction, doesn't make an offence.

- Unlawful shielding

A player who is shielding an opponent, but moves and makes Personal Contact with the shielded opponent, is making an offence, because the opponent does not get the opportunity to continue the moving-line and/or come to a standstill in time.

The player who acts like this is guilty of hindering, colliding, pushing, cutting off or obstruction and makes the offence.

When a player achieves a shielding in the direct field of view, either in front or on the side of the opponent, but is standing still, and his opponent is moving forward and it results in Personal Contact, the shielded player (opponent) is responsible for this contact and makes the offence (pushing-in).

When shielding outside the field of view of the opponent, no obstruction/shielding will be allowed. The player who is shielding should realise that the opponent will have space enough to evade Personal Contact. If Personal Contact occurs the player who is shielding, makes the offence.

To touch (= Personal Contact) a shielded player in an unlawful way means an offence.

A player who is not moving, but standing still, can never shield unlawfully.

BLOCKING

A player who is blocking makes obstruction, if this player takes place in the moving-line of a moving opponent so suddenly, that pushing or colliding is inevitable.

A player who is blocking is pushing in, if Personal Contact occurs when the player is moving and the opponent is standing still or withdrawing from the player.

If Personal Contact occurs as a result of an attempt of blocking and both players are moving, either of them may make the offence.

In case of doubt the greatest responsibility lies with the player who tries to block.

Blocking is allowed provided that Personal Contact is prevented in case of crossing moving-lines and the opponent gets the opportunity to change of moving-line or to stop in time.

Blocking is allowed provided that Personal Contact is prevented in case of parallel moving-lines and the opponent gets the opportunity to follow the own straight moving-line.

PLAYER IN POSSESSION OF THE BALL

A player who is driving the ball is not allowed to make Personal Contact with an opponent.

The player in possession of the ball shall consider the element of 'place'. He may not push in an opponent who is standing still, or between opponents or between an opponent and the boundaries, the goal or the referee. If Personal Contact occurs, the player in possession of the ball is responsible, because he should see that there is no sufficient space to drive through without Personal Contact.

If a player, who is driving the ball, passes an opponent without making Personal Contact, so that he has the lead, the greatest responsibility for a possible Personal Contact lies with the opponent.

If the player, who is driving the ball, has a straight path in front, the player may not be pushed away from the own moving-line by an opponent.

If an opponent succeeds in taking a correct defensive position on the moving-line of the player who is driving the ball, the player in possession of the ball, shall evade Personal Contact by changing direction or by stopping.

DEFENDING A PLAYER WHO IS IN POSSESSION OF THE BALL

The player in possession of the ball may expect that he will always be defended even if the action takes place in the split of a second.

When the defending player has taken a legal defensive position, both players shall respect one another's moving-line: the player who suddenly changes the own moving-line is responsible for the Personal Contact and makes the offence.

If the defending player pushes an opponent, the defending player makes the offence (pushing off).

DEFENDING A PLAYER WHO IS NOT IN POSSESSION OF THE BALL

A player who is not in possession of the ball has the right to move freely in the playing field to take any position which has not been taken by another player.

Players not in possession of the ball shall however respect the elements 'time' and 'place'. This means that attackers as well as defenders, not in possession of the ball, may not take a position so close to an opponent who is moving or standing still, that Personal Contact occurs easily.

The distance between players always depend on the speed of the players.

A player not in possession of the ball, may not take a position in the moving-line of an opponent too soon (= obstruction), without giving the opponent enough time or distance to stop or change direction.

If a player does not consider the elements of 'time' and 'place' when taking the own position and makes Personal Contact, the player is responsible for this contact and the referee may whistle for an offence.

If a defending player has taken a legal defensive position, the defender may not prevent the opponent from passing by suddenly taking a position (= obstruction) in the moving-line of the opponent.

If a defender has taken a legal defensive position, the defender is allowed to turn, move backwards or forwards to stay in the moving-line of the opponent.

The defender is not allowed to move towards or turning to the opponent. In case of Personal Contact the defender is responsible for that. The defender should respect the element of 'place': the distance between the opponent and the defender.

DEFINITIONS OF PERSONAL CONTACT

Hooking

Placing the own stick around another player's body, stick or powerchair in attempt to stop, obstruct or hold an opponent or to lift the stick or drive an opponent's stick out of the hands.

Hindering

Powerchair-contact with the own powerchair against an opponents powerchair, which impedes the freedom of action.

Obstruction

Suddenly moving into or stopping in an opponent's path, making it impossible for the player to avoid a collision. Obstruction is a defensive offence.

Pushing in

Powerchair-contact occurring when a player, whether or not in possession of the ball, unyieldingly pursues the own moving-line and in doing so, makes Personal Contact with an opponent in a permissible defensive position, the boundaries, a goal or a referee.

Pushing in is an attacking offence.

Cutting off

Making contact with an opponent whilst moving in a parallel direction with the opponent, making use of a slight lead or more speed in order (suddenly) to change course and head off the opponent or reach for the ball, whilst the opponent has no possibility of getting out of the way.

Shielding / Interference

An attempt to prevent an opponent, who is not in possession of the ball, from reaching the spot the opponent is heading for. Shielding / interference without Personal Contact is allowed.

Blocking
